Market Intelligence

As businesses face ever-changing regulations, they need to act with confidence, knowing their data and reporting meet – and exceed – industry standards.

The regulatory landscape won't stop shifting

Navigate it with confidence.

Global Regulatory Reporting Solutions from S&P Global Market Intelligence provides scalable, best-in-class technology that automates regulatory reporting and streamlines the journey to meeting compliance obligations – all backed by expert insights that help financial market participants make clear decisions.

Global Coverage Meets Cross-Jurisdictional Requirements

Access intelligence in a class of its own with Global Regulatory Reporting Solutions

Complex reporting made clear

The manual work you put into transaction reporting wastes valuable resources. Our technology automates the process, so you can refocus your team on core business initiatives.

Ownership costs optimized

Compared to in-house solutions, an outsourced reporting solution can substantially reduce overhead and save your firm money on infrastructure, labor and process development.

A vision for the future

Operated as a cloud-based SaaS platform, our solution keeps you on the leading edge of regulatory change. No need to make massive updates to your reporting processes. As regulations change, so does the platform.

A community built to connect

Our extensive customer base places you among a well-established reporting community that standardizes reporting conventions. Operate with confidence knowing regulations are backed by industry best practices.

A partner with perspective

Our experts collaborate with clients to guide them through their current challenges and help them plan for the future.

Global Regulatory Reporting Solutions puts all your regulatory solutions in one place.
